Shocking Disaster.

By Associated Press.]

NEW YORK, Aug. 22.—It now seems possible that one of the worst disasters, which ever happened in this city, occurred just after noon to-day. From what can now be learned, fully, if not more than fifty people lost their lives. The accident came so suddenly that not a single person in the two big buildings at 70 and 72 Park Place escaped alive. A. A. Johnson, janitor in the building at 81 Park Place, directly across the street from where the accident occurred, said he was standing on the steps of 81 at noon when he heard the sound of an explosion from across the street. Almost immediately the front walls of the two buildings collapsed and the entire building caved in with a deafening crash. It came so suddenly that it was impossible for a living being to escape from the ruins.

On the ground floor of one of the numbers was a restaurant crowded with people. The other floors were occupied by the Southern Publishing Company, Lontell & Co., art designers, and Ellis & McDonald, bookbinders. The ruins are burning fiercely, and all efforts are being directed toward getting the flames under control, in order that the work of rescue and recovering the bodies of the dead may be begun.

As near as could be learned the explosion took place in the metal leaf factory of Rosenfeld & Co., on the second floor, 72 Park place. This is just over the drug store on the ground floor of the building.

It is said that as the wall fell there were many pedestrians who were passing the place who were covered by the brick and stone.

In the metal leaf factory it is not known how many girls were at work, but there were a large number. In the restaurant on the ground floor twenty-five or thirty people were present at the time of the explosion. Then there were ten or twelve girls in the wash-room in the basement. Tripp & Co., druggists, also had a number of employees.

Three children of Frank Haggerty, the janitor, were playing in front when the explosion occurred. They were killed.

The latest report says that the explosion was caused by steam, which blew up the receiving boiler in the basement belonging to the steam-heating company. Roundsman Taylor was passing along Park Place when he heard the explosion. He ran to a hardware store and secured a dozen axes and distributed them to the firemen, who had already arrived at the scene. The firemen and by-standers soon cut a hole in the wall of No. 70, out of which seventeen persons crawled, all of whom bore bruises. Three alarms of fire were followed by the arrival of ambulances from all the hospitals. A reserve was called out from near-by station houses, but the greatest difficulty was experienced in keeping the thousand people beyond the fire lines when it became known that there had been a fearful loss of life.

The number of those buried in the ruins is variously estimated at from fifty to one hundred persons. Some occupants of the upper floors of the building were lithographers, cigar manufacturers, founders and several other industries. Domenick Berk, a cook in the restaurant in the basement escaped as if by a miracle. He said: "I was busy at my range when I heard a dull, deep sound, followed by a puff of air. The next moment the whole building seemed to fall about me and I was knocked to the floor. I was dazed for a moment, but finding I was free of the ruins groped my way through a hole in the wall and finally found my way into the basement of a building on Greenwich street, through which I gained the street."

Two others who were in the basement were rescued by the police and were rescued by the police and Several fatalities, caused by the defective rails, resulted in this order being issued. The officials say they cannot afford to lay new tracks as the road is not paying expenses.

than this. The speaker declared that a protective system preserves the home market for the people at home.

"Reciprocity," Major McKinley said, "is a provision which in no way encroaches upon the protective principle, nor can it in any way destroy or undermine the protective tariff."

The speaker declared that the statement that a sugar bounty was more burdensome than a tax was untrue. The bounty will encourage the production of sugar here instead of destroying the industry. The tin plate tax was defended. The Major said there was much criticism about the duty on tin plate and fully as much misrepresentation as criticism. In closing, McKinley said: "What will the Democratic party do on the silver question. A vast majority of the party is in favor of the debased dollar. Will they register their vote or that of Cleveland? We must wait in the meantime and let Ohio record her verdict against the degradation of American labor and the debasement of the American dollar."

Does Farming Pay.

The Farmers' Alliance, formed primarily for the advancement of the farmers, their mutual enlightenment upon agricultural subjects and the protection of their interests, is a most excellent institution, which deserves the support and encouragement of all who are engaged in agricultural pursuits.Unfortunately the main objects of the association are frequently lost sight of, and the efforts of the Alliance are sometimes turned in a direction unthought of by the organizers of the movement.We consider the farmer "nation's nobleman," filling as he does the most useful position of life, and as a producer of material wealthwithout a peer; but the Alliance has some amazing plans for the relief of ill which he in common with others suffer from. Different State Alliances have resolved thatall the railroads should be bought, that money should be issued on lands and crops, that the government should take control of the liquor traffic and appoint the bar tenders and similar schemes.Can any country fail to be prosperous which has, or will produce, in a single year 600,000,000 bushels of wheat, 700,000,000 bushels of oats, 2,000,000,000 bushels of corn, 8,000,000 bales of cotton and magnificent crops of hay and other products and inexpressible quantities of fruits and vegetables, and yet the platforms say: "Life to the great mass of agriculturists of our country, is one of unrewarded toil, unmerited failure, and almost hopeless despondency."Suppose a vote were taken on the question, "does farming pay?" at one of the meetings of the Farmers' Alliance. How many would answer in the affirmative?Well, would not the same result obtain if a similar question were put to the members of any branch of trade? Now suppose there should be submitted to a committee, composed of professional men, tradesmen, merchants, manufacturers and farmers, the following:In what calling of life can a man best secure for himself and family all that goes to secure comfort, contentment, happiness and the greatest enjoyment for a limited amount of money? What would the verdict be? We believe a large majority would unhesitatingly declare that farming would produce these results more effectually and certainly than any other line of business. Farming, like any other profession, can be made to pay only by hard work, economy and intelligent management. The farmer and the merchant alike can succeed only by industry and by taking advantage of every opportunity. A merchant who sits in his counting-room waiting for customers, who do not come, to buy his goods, and daily making inroads into his capital by paying interest on borrowed money and through personal expenses, cannot succeed. The farmer who leaves his wheat stacked in the field exposed to the weather, who fails to repair his fence, lets his apples lay on the ground and rot, who sits in the shade and laments the scarcity of farm labor, who wastes his time discussing politics, who neglects his garden and fruit trees and buys nearly everything he consumes, does not make farming pay. We were informed, only a day or two since, by a dealer, that he was supplying vegetables to a prominent farmer owning hundreds of acres of rich agricultural land. Imagine a farmer sending to the city to buy vegetables! It is not necessary to ask, does farming pay him?We contend that farming does pay. We do not mean to say that fortunes can be made at farming, but that better results can be obtained by the investment of limited amounts in agriculture than can be had in most lines of business. The merchant is well content, if by hard labor and at the expense of many anxious moments he can make a comfortable living for himself and family. The farmer, when complaining that farming does not pay, forgets that he is living on the fat of the land, and that he and his family are enjoying the good things of earth,which are unobtainable at any price by the inhabitants of the cities.We claim that if the same amount of capital, energy and industry are invested in business and farming, the latter would yield the best results.The editorial in this morning's Journal on farm culture is worthy of the most careful consideration.
Immense quantities of German hops are imported at high prices for use in all parts of America.
Nevada is an untried land and might produce this and other crops of a quality to make it headquarters for the whole earth. The most important thing is to plant no more than can be thoroughly cultivated and cured. That is the only road to excellence.

ENGRAVING WITH DYNAMITE.

Figures Reproduced on Iron by Firing the Explosive Above Them.Among the many new uses to which gunpowder and other high explosives have been applied recently is that of engraving. By means of the force generated by the detonation of these articles the lines of delicate leaves, grass and insects have been impressed on the surface of the hardest iron procurable in the space of half a second. By old processes, says the New York Herald, hours were consumed where machinery was used and any attempt was made to secure artistic results, and days where manufacturers resorted to hand work.Many recent experiments have been made, mostly by officers of the army and navy, which have demonstrated the efficiency of the methods.At Newport a few weeks ago a heavy charge of dynamite was exploded by several officers who were delegated by the government to test a new method of electricity in fuses.Somehow a small dried leaf without the knowledge of the officers had slipped in between the dynamite cartridge and the iron block from which the charge had been fired.When the experiment had been completed the officers were surprised to find the perfect imprint of a leaf in the iron.
The most delicate lines were reproduced with startling distinctness.A series of experiments, which were attended with remarkable results, followed.One of the officers who made the first experiments is now in the city, and he gave me an account of his discoveries when I saw him at an up-town hotel the other night."I was rather surprised to find that it was possible to reproduce the outlines of perishable articles upon the surface of iron by means of explosives," said he,
"and was at first sceptical, although I had often heard that a candle could be fired through an oak plank."When we found the imprint of the leaf we made several tests."They took place at the torpedo station in Newport. We placed several leaves and flowers between two plates of boiler iron and then fired a moderate charge of dynamite on the upper plate."The exact outlines with even the veins in the petals of the flowers were reproduced in the hard metal."Other and more extended experiments were attended with similar results."Another singular fact is that when exploded under water the imprints are much finer than those produced in the open air. Frequently when a wad of gun cotton is exploded beneath the surface of the water the explosive will sink into the iron foundation so deep that the sunken words and figures will be reproduced in raised characters on the iron."Several manufacturers have followed the example set by the officers and some day probably dynamite will be put in practical use as an engraver.THE BRAINY WOMAN.

Upper California was first visited by the Spaniards in 1542. Sir Francis Drake, the same who took Raleigh's colony back to England in 1585, visited upper California in 1579, calling it New Albion, which means new England.
It was two hundred years later, in 1769, when Catholic missionaries from Spain made the first settlement of white people in that country. There were only about ten thousand white inhabitants in the whole province when it was seized by the United States in 1846. In the summer of that year California settlers from the United States set up a movement for independence, and tried to establish a government known as "The Bear Flag Republic." They were aided by Capt. Fremont (afterward a general), who was in the province as the leader of an exploring expedition.
United States naval officers on the coast, expecting a war between the United States and Mexico, raised the American flag on shore, and after some fighting, the province remained in American hands, and was definitely annexed at the close of the Mexican war.We contend that farming does
pay. We do not mean to say that

A Pioneer's Experience With Hood's Sarsaparilla."I am a pioneer in this country, having been here 10 years. Four years ago my little son Elmer became blood-poisoned by impure virus in vaccination. His arm swelled terribly, causing great agony; physicians said the arm must be amputated, and even then his recovery would be doubtful. One day I read about a blood purifier, new to me, and was surprised to learn that it was prepared by C. I.
Hood, with whom I used to go to school in Chelsea, Vt. I decided to have my boy try Hood's Sarsaparilla and was much gratified when it seemed to help him. He continued to grow better as we gave him the Sarsaparilla, and having used 5 bottles is now entirely cured. As Hood's Sarsaparilla has accomplished such wonderful results, I recommend it still possibly can." JAMES M. SLEPPER,

From San Antonio.

AGG. HORNUKO, a well known manufacturer of boots and shoes at 820 Nolan St., San Antonio, Texas, will not soon forget his experience with an attack of the cramps which he relates as follows: "I was taken with a violent cramp in the stomach, which I believe would have caused my death, had it not for the skill of Dr. John C. Choate and Dr. John C. Remedy. The first dose did me so much good that I followed it up with 20 minutes with a second dose, and in 30 minutes with a third dose, to where I was I did not need him. This Remedy shall always be the main stay of my family." For sale by J. B. McCullough, Druggist.

LEN SAVAGE.

The Locator of the Famous Savage Mine, and a Pioneer of California and Nevada.

Len C. Savage, the original locator of the famous Savage mine, on the Comstock lode, at Virginia City, Nev., arrived on this coast in 1850, and settled at San Juan, Nevada county, Cal., where he engaged in mining and milling until 1859, when he came to this section of the country, at that time a portion of Utah Territory, subsequently known as Washoe, and now as the State of Nevada. Being one of the first men on the Comstock lode,

HE LOCATED THE SAVAGE MINE

From a bunch of croppings rising next south of the heavy croppings of the Gould & Curry. A year or two afterwards he disposed of his mining interests and purchased a valuable tract of farming and grazing land on the Truckee Meadows, a few miles east of where Reno now stands. Here in 1863 he engaged in farming and stock raising, and continued in that business

SUGAR IMPORTS.

As far back as 1870 we imported a billion pounds of sugar at a cost of $55,000,000. Then beet-sugar constituted but 37 per cent of the total sugar yield of the world. Then but 942,000 tons were made, but in 1885 it amounted to 2,544,000 tons, or 53 per cent of the total sugar of the world. Maple sugar has reached its limits, 45,000,000 pounds, and it is probable that date sugar, 220,000,000 pounds, will decrease rather than increase. The limits of cane sugar, confined mostly to the tropics, will operate against any large increase of that sugar, hence it may be asserted that the beet-sugar will be depended upon for the increase in the total quantity of sugar demanded for consumption. The United States is a large consumer of sugar; the people of this country use far more per capita than those of France or Germany, and the quantity annually used is increasing each year. A hundred million dollars can be saved if our country can manufacture its own sugar, and California, with its success in this line, promises a great future in beet-sugar making. We may expect in time to see factories multiplied until hundreds of millions of pounds will be manufactured each year. It is estimated that during the present year California will produce more than three-fifths of the total amount of beet-sugar made in the United States, the other sections of the Union manufacturing beet-sugar being Nebraska, Utah and Virginia. Of the three California factories the Alameda Sugar Company at Alvarado has 1,000 acres planted to sugar beets, and expects from these to manufacture 3,000,000 pounds of sugar. The Chino Valley Beet Sugar Company has 2,500 acres planted to beets and expect to manufacture 5,000,000 pounds of sugar this season. The Western Beet Sugar Company, which has its factory at Watsonville, in Santa Cruz county, has between 3,000 and 4,000 acres planted to sugar-beets, and will this year make nearly eight million pounds of sugar.

BEET SUGAR.

The Great Possibilities of This New Industry.

From a late article in the Bulletin we take the following:

Professor Wiley, a well-known member of the United States Board of Agriculture, asserts that California has 700,000 acres adapted to growing the sugar-beet profitably. He says that the produce here is from thirty to forty tons of beets per acre, and as these are worth on an average $4 per ton, farmers will receive for their crop from $120 to $160 an acre. E. H. Dyer of the Alvarado refinery estimates the pounds of sugar per acre at from 3,000 to 6,000; hence it will be seen that California can produce an enormous quantity of beet sugar if her resources are developed.

CHURCH NOTICE.

METHODIST CHURCH—Next Sabbath at the M. E. Church, in the morning at 10:30 a. m., will be "Walking upon God," and the "Worship of the Living God." Superintendents of the School of Industrial Arts at the State University. This is an outrage on the people of the State, as he is wholly incompetent for such a position, so say the mechanics of Elko.

There is an abundance of fruit in Carson valley. Large quantities of small fruits are still being shipped out of the county. There is an abundance of early apples, but owing to the large number on the trees, the fruit is not so large as usual. The flavor however, is not to be excelled. The plum crop is enormous.

Death in the Snow Sheds.

Frank Dickson, foreman of a gang of carpenters, fell off the snow sheds on Thursday morning and the "buggy" used on the roof fell on him. He was picked up and taken to Summit, but died on the way. His skull was fractured and his lungs were ruptured by the fall.

Hate and Hearty.

These two adjectives by no means imply the possession of great muscular strength. There are many men and women of slight build and inferior stature to whom the term "hate and hearty" perfectly apply. Their complexions are clear, eyes bright and vivacious, pulse tranquil, step elastic, move steadily, are undisturbed, and heartbeats sound. These indicia of health and heartiness Hottester's Stone Pill will assuredly bestow upon the feeble, the nervous and the debilitous. No tonic of any other rival is in efficacy. As an invigorating means also the previous regulation of disorder in the system, Hottester's Stone Pill will be of great service. It cures and regulates all the chief organs of the body, and regarded as among regulators. It cures and prevents malaria and rheumatism, overcomes inactivity of the liver, bowels and kidneys, and promotes the acquisition of flesh as well as vigor.

CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH—Subject of discourse at 11 a. m. to-morrow.
